Relaxed Antitrust Enforcement in the U.S.?

Wednesday | July 7, 2021 | 17:30 - 18:45 (GMT+2)
Zoom-Livestream

Abstract: There is an increasing narrative in the popular press and among some academics that antitrust regulators have systematically relaxed existing antitrust law enforcement. This talk challenges this view based on new theoretical and empirical research by the author using U.S. data from 1979 to 2017.

Speaker: Prof. Jeffrey Macher

«Prof. Macher's research concentrates on the economics of technology and innovation, industry structure and competitive strategy. He offers courses in microeconomics, competitive strategy, and the management of technology and innovation. He also is an academic director of Georgetown's Center for Business and Public Policy.»

Professor of Strategy, Economics and Public Policy, Georgetown University.

Host: Prof. Rolf Weder, Professor of International Trade and European Integration, Faculty of Business and Economics, University of Basel.

This is the 2021 Public Event of the Summer School in Law, Business & Economic Policy at the Faculty of Business and Economics of the University of Basel. Prof. Jeffrey T. Macher teaches the Master course "Competitive Strategy" from June 28 to July 8 which is part of the Summer School Programme of 2021.
